Straight boy, straight girl
Secure in your own sexuality
Why do you suppose some folks feel so threatened by
The LGBTQ community

Straight boy, straight girl
You want to love like all humanity
And you want to be loved
See how much you have in common with
The LGBTQ community

We want to leave behind the times
When you're never safe, when you're not let in
Because of your religion or your language
Your accent or the color of your skin

But prejudice is prejudice
Xenophobe or homophobe or member of the Klan
And ignorance breeds hate and fear
Of different kinds of people we don't understand

Straight boy, straight girl...

Some denigrate, some demonize
Different kinds of people they don't really know
It's easy when they generalize
When individuality and faces don't show

But when someone you know and love
Comes out to you and shares their truth one day
Show them they can count on you
To be an Ally and love them either way

Straight boy, straight girl
Have you got the courage to have an open mind
Straight boy, straight girl
Say you'll be an Ally for all humankind

Straight boy, straight girl
Say you'll be an Ally...
